Dark Bread

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

President Truman has asked us to eat dark bread in order to release 25,000,000 extra bushels of wheat to the hungry people of Europe. I am glad he has done so. "If thine enemy hunger, feed him." Even more we should feed those who fought at our side.

But as the world's food belt is drawing tight, you should know that our bureaucrats are themselves chiefly the cause of the wheat shortage which has led to the dark bread order.

During the last half of 1945, the feeding industry consumed 145 million bushels of wheat more than the normal amount fed on the farms where grown. Facts presented this month to the Feed Committee of the Governors of our Northeastern States, by grain experts from Cornell Agricultural College, show that this excess feeding of wheat to animals was due to government ceilings on both corn and wheat which distorted the normal price relationships that allocate grain to men or to cattle, hogs, and hens. In a free market much more of this wheat would have moved to or been stored for human consumption. Under government controls it was fed to hogs!

Despite the largest wheat crop in our history, last year, the amount of wheat on hand January 1, 1946, was 146 million bushels less than it was a year ago! In the last quarter of 1945 the disappearance of wheat for all purposes was 34 per cent greater than a year ago. Only Washington knew the food situation in Europe and the vast commitments it was making abroad, yet, by its ignorant price controls, grain feeding to animals on December 1, 1945, was the second highest in history! We are now asked to eat dark bread to save 25 million bushels of wheat for the hungry of Europe, when as a result of bureaucratic blunders we pushed six times that much extra wheat into animal feed in six months!

I offer this as a sample of the capacity of bureaucrats to run America! As Jefferson said, "Were we directed by Washington when to sow and when to reap, we should soon want bread." In a free market, wheat and corn would have flowed through their natural channels just as little streams find their way down the mountain without government directives.

There is still a lot of wheat on the farms. But what does the farmer see? He sees the New Deal promoting wage increases to its big city-voting allies. He sees the government yield on steel prices in order that the steel companies can collect from all of us, including the farmer, enough to pay the wage increases. The farmer figures that these wage increases, once granted in a few industries, will spread like a row of falling dominoes, all over America. Is he wrong about that?

If he is, he figures that what he buys will go up, and the wages of farm labor will go up. So he figures the ceilings on wheat for humans must sometime be lifted, also. He, too, is "in the battle of the bulge."

TOUGH RIDE FOR PICKET NABBED IN PHILLY RIOTS

During new outbreaks which followed attempts at mass picketing by some 3,000 strikers at the Philadelphia General Electric plant, one of 18 pickets arrested for defying a court injunction is pushed into a police motorcycle sidecar and taken to the police station. Free-for-all fights were frequent as mounted police and patrolmen broke up parade line. A general city-wide sympathy demonstration by CIO Unions was being considered.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Results of the high price and scarcity of feed were shown at the combination sale on the property of the Rice brothers, near Solebury, on Tuesday, when some difficulty was experienced in the disposal of hogs. It was pointed out the farmers do not care to invest in hogs when the feed is so high and scarce.

Of the 94 head of hogs offered, only 54 were sold at the following prices: brood sows, $30 each; seed hogs, $15 to $20; shoats, $6 to $19, and small pigs, $3.25 to $10.

Proceeds of the sale, which was attended by about 600 persons, amounted to $4404.26. The sale of poultry, the offering of which was somewhat lighter than usual, amounted to $1981.29.

A group of nature lovers met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Traub at Churchville, and formed an organization, "The Neshaminy Valley Nature Club." The meetings will be in the form of bird walks and field trips. There will also be discussions on nature in general. Meetings will be held in the homes of the members.

Officers were elected as follows: Edwin Traub, president; Mrs. Lester Thomas, secretary and treasurer; Adolph Herzog, vice-president and chairman of the program committee; Mrs. Edwin Traub, field secretary and membership chairman, and Lester Thomas, field leader.

The next meeting is a bird walk, scheduled for late in March.

BLIND WOMAN CHALKS UP FINE WAR RECORD

Anna Moyer, Perkasio, Makes Knitted Garments For Service Folk

PERKASIO, Mar. 1.—Although she is practically sightless, 34-year-old Anna Moyer has a record that would shame many a normal sighted individual who during war time stood by and assumed a "let-the-other-fellow-do-it" attitude.

With the opening of the national American Red Cross fund campaign for $100,000,000 set for March 1st, Anna Moyer's unselfish spirit was rewarded today when she was presented with a citation from the Southeastern Pennsylvania Division of the American Red Cross, for making more knitted garments for men and women in the service during World War No. 2 than any other individual in the entire district—blind or with normal vision.

Miss Moyer is an employee of the Bucks County Branch of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, on South Main street, Doylestown. She has worked there since the branch was opened less than a year ago.

Her contribution during the war was 112 completed, knitted garments, including sweaters, mufflers, socks, beanies and other miscellaneous items.

"That's what I kept track of; I made a lot more than that," Miss Moyer said.

PHILA. FACED WITH A GENERAL STRIKE

CIO Electrical Workers Call Off a Planned Protest March Today

By Tom R. Brislin
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 1.—(INS)—Strike-bound Philadelphia faced a general strike threat today.

CIO Electrical Workers leaders today called off a protest march as the nation's third largest city faced the possibility of a general strike of all CIO workers.

After 300 striking workers turned up for a parade this morning, Henry Rhine, international organizer of the union, announced it had been decided not to march in order to prevent "further police brutality."

Earlier, a cordon of approximately 1000 police was thrown about the plant. Rhine told the workers: "We have called upon the CIO and they are working on strategy to force the city administration to stop police brutality and to make General Electric sit down and effect a settlement."

The CIO-Philadelphia Industrial Council awaited approval by CIO president Philip Murray for a general work stoppage in the nation's third largest city "if necessary" to end alleged police "brutality."

More than 150,000 CIO workers in the area would walkout, paralyzing virtually every type of labor and industry if Murray approves the general strike.

Sharp clashes between 3000 strikers and club swinging mounted and motorcycle police yesterday resulted in the arrest of 18 demonstrators and the clubbing of 20 more.

Philadelphia police were ordered to barge into and repulse any additional attempts by the strikers to parade or carry on mass picketing. Acting Sheriff William Morrow hurled this warning at the strikers: "Our duty is clearly defined. We have used only such force as was necessary to enforce the court order and we will continue to do so until the law is voluntarily obeyed."

STATE TROOPERS IN CO. ARE KEPT BUSY

Decreased Force Through-out State Finds Fatalities On The Increase

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

Carrying out an excellent piece of patrol work in spite of the fact that their numbers have been decreased during the war, Pennsylvania State Troopers at Langhorne, Doylestown and Quakertown barracks are continuing their drive to make Pennsylvania highways safer.

The details of Pennsylvania's traffic casualty record for the year 1945 have arrived in Bucks County, and as pointed out by the troopers the score does not make a pretty picture. In the state during '45 a total of 1380 were killed, 34,535 injured, and 52,773 accidents occurred.

It is pointed out that fatalities increased 11 per cent in 1945 over the year 1944 when 1,244 were killed; 29,928 injured and accidents numbered 42,616.

Highlights of the 1945 report showed that of the 1,380 persons killed in 1945 in Pennsylvania, approximately 50 per cent or 674 were pedestrians, 314 were operators and 341 occupants of cars involved in accidents.

Fatalities were heavier in the rural territory, where 722 were killed, than in urban sections, where the death toll was 658. Of the total rural fatalities 269 were pedestrians while the urban section took a toll of 405 walkers.

The report also shows that during 1945 there were 33 sled riders and 18 bicyclists killed in accidents involving motor vehicles. That was an increase in sled rider deaths in 1945 over 1944 when 3 met death and a decrease in bicyclists of whom 30 were killed in 1944.

PRIMER OF POWER

A member of the Truman Official Family has very kindly furnished the American people with another blueprint of the methods by which the Washington bureaucrats seek to seize complete power over the American people and the nation's resources.

It is a primer of political power; a roadmap to the Socialization of the United States. If you would like to look it over, write to the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion (John W. Snyder) at Washington and ask for his Fifth Report, entitled "Battle for Production," or to the Budget Bureau, 1400 Pennsylvania Avenue, N. W., Washington 25, D. C.

The program is all there. But you will have to dig for it. You will find it buried in a mass of hokum, brazen mis-statements, juggled figures and political soft-soap.

Turn to page one. This is labelled "Toward Full Employment." You will find, however, that it is a survey of the post-war period with a view to finding emergencies. Emergencies, as everyone knows, are the stepping-stones of dictatorship. Find a good emergency, ask special powers to handle it—and the hard part is over.

The postwar period as treated on this page is divided into four "phases." The first is physical reconversion of plants. This is said to be completed. No. 2 is seeking for volume production—described in the booklet as a "battle" for peacetime production, and as a "battle" the emergency upon which immediate extension of vast power to the White House is urged.

Emergency No. 3 will be maintaining full production until demand has been met. Emergency No. 4 will be preventing another depression when current shortages have been overcome.

Of course, once you accept the original assumption of Mr. Snyder that none of this can be accomplished by the people themselves, and all must be "managed" from the top, it is obvious that a state of economic emergency will exist from here out. That is precisely the slant of the entire pamphlet.

Attempting to go on the assumption that the American people have no sense and no initiative, and at the same time seeking to prove that the author believes in democracy, free economy and self reliance, calls for some fast footwork in dealing with contemporary problems.

It calls, too, for a great deal of quite obvious misrepresentation of facts. These are largely necessitated by the difficulties of proving that the New Deal has been supremely wise and successful for thirteen years, and at the same time that emergencies still exist and others are due.

The juggling of figures and facts are almost childish. Look at the chart on page 2. It purports to show the location as of the date of the pamphlet (Jan. 1, 1946) of the nation's armed forces. Totalling the various figures you find that it accounts for an aggregate of 4,300,000.

Pauley Not to Withdraw Unless "Frozen Out"

Washington—Edwin W. Pauley declared today that he would not consider withdrawing his name for Undersecretary of the Navy unless he should be "frozen out" by the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

And to this he added:

"I'm convinced that's not going to happen."

Pauley's statement to reporters indicated for the first time the only condition under which he might ask President Truman to withdraw his nomination from Senate consideration. It came as the partisan battle over his fitness to become a "little cabinet" member dragged into another day of bitter committee testimony.

At the same time an authoritative committee source said the outlook for favorable committee action on the Pauley nomination was "doubtful."

ned by proportion. He told how, th many men in the armed forces ring the past few years that per- stage of women's names in- ased.

Continuing, Mr. Thorne said "The ection of names in this county made with the utmost care. It is y doubtful in my mind if any- ges else in our country the ges take the same amount of e and consideration in help- h the selection of the names ed in the jury wheel.

The jury commission consists of sident Judge Hiram H. Keller, lge Calvin S. Boyer, Sheriff nels G. Myers, Republican jury nmissioner Lester D. Thorne and ucratic jury commissioner rman Kirkpatrick. They are as- ted by the two secretaries of the ges.

In November of each year a ek is set aside for the work of lag the wheel. The end of the ir finds us with some 600 or 700 es left from the previous year. es names are on slips of paper, ded and in sealed envelopes. ey are removed from the en- ves and sorted as to election dis- ts. The names of persons who re not voted for two years, as ll as deceased persons and those o have removed from the county eleted from the list. The num- of new names to be drawn for each district depends upon the number returned in this manner from the previous year.

"Some people have asked, 'Where do you get the names?' During the latter part of October a letter is sent by both the Republican and Democratic jury commissioners to each committeeman and each committeewoman throughout the county. This letter asks each one to furnish the names of five men and five women who are honest, intelligent and of sober habits, who are physically able to serve, if called. It also asks that they be registered voters, but without regard to party affiliation.

"Despite this large number of names it is surprising how difficult it is to fill the quota for each election district. When a person has served during one year he is not required to serve the succeeding year. The names of husband and wife are not put in at the same time. If the names of two persons residing in the same dwelling are sent in with the lists only one is used in case they might turn out to be father and son, sisters or brothers, and so on. Old age is given consideration, both on account of hearing and inability to travel to and from court. Every name must be checked to see that the person is a registered voter. This necessitates a careful check with the registration books.

"When the entire list of names has been completed, the names are transcribed to slips of paper so they can be individually sealed. Next the envelopes are folded and placed in envelopes and placed in the wheel and it is locked and sealed and now is in readiness for the drawing of the first jury.

"Upon the order of court the clerk delivers a writ to the sheriff in which he is instructed to draw a given number of names for jury duty."

Republicans Are United Behind Martin and Duff

HARRISBURG, Mar. 1—(INS)—

Harmony was the keynote of the Republican party today with lead- ers united behind Gov. Edward Mar- tin for U. S. Senator and Attorney General James H. Duff for gov- ernor.

County chairmen, vice-chairmen and the 23-member state executive committee unanimously endorsed the GOP ticket which included in addition to Martin and Duff, Col. Daniel Strickler, of Lancaster, for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs, William S. Liv- engood, Jr., for a third term.

Duff thanked the leaders and par- tially outlined his campaign plans. He stated:

"I have only one idea: to carry forward with enthusiasm the pro- gram Governor Martin has initiated and carried to the point where it is now.

"I am a person who takes nothing for granted," Duff asserted. "The way for us to be successful is to prepare for a fight in the fall. I accept your confidence with a feeling of great responsibility. I will do everything within my power to bring this campaign to a success- ful conclusion."

BRISTOL MEMBERS OF PAA APPROVE PLAN

Support Governor In His Efforts To Do Away With "Sharp Practices"

TO CO-OPERATE FULLY

Support of the joint State Government Commission investigation into the "sharp practices" in charging excessive rates for financing automobiles on the part of some finance companies and installment dealers has been adopted through a resolution passed by the Pennsylvania Automotive Association, which represents 2100 new car dealers or 90 per cent of the dealers throughout the State, Claude S. Klugh, Manager of the group, reported today.

"All Bristol PAA members endorse this idea," a spokesman for the group, said today.

"Only a very small minority indulge in so-called 'sharp practices,'" Mr. Klugh stated.

"Such practices reflect poorly on the entire automobile industry, and particularly on dealers and finance companies who are conscientiously and sincerely operating in the best interests of the public," Mr. Klugh said. "It is the honest desire of our organization to clean up such practices."

The resolution, in part, read: "Whereas, it is the duty of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association to protect the good name of the automobile industry, and in particular its members who are affected adversely by the publicity and knowledge that there exist unscrupulous practices, be it resolved:

"First, we commend Governor Martin for his very timely insistence upon an investigation of finance companies and installment dealers, and

"Second, that the Pennsylvania Automotive Association cooperate in every way in its power with the proper State authorities to effect an complete an investigation as possible, and lend aid to secure such remedies as the facts would seem to require."

PLANS SET

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—Cornell University is going ahead with plans for its annual farm and home week observance the last of March—despite a severe shortage of room accommodations. In pre-war days as many as 15,000 attended the program, when the Governor is a speaker.

MARCH 15 TAX QUIZ

(This is the fifth of a series of 15 brief articles, in question and answer form, explaining how to fill out your federal income tax return.)

By Francis R. Smith

Collector of Internal Revenue Q. Who uses the Form 1040 as a "long form" tax return? A. Anyone whose income was $5,000 or more must use it; it may be used by anyone under $5,000 who wishes to claim his personal deductions instead of accepting the approximate 10 per cent allowance provided in the short form or Withholding Receipt. In other words, if you believe you are entitled to more deductions than is provided by the allowance, you can itemize and claim your actual deductions.

Q. Do persons whose income was over $5,000 have to itemize deductions? A. They have a choice between a flat allowance of $500 or itemizing their actual deductions. (Note: the 10 per cent allowance, which is incorporated in the tax table, applies only to incomes under $5,000.)

Q. Is Form 1040 filled out any differently when used as a "long form" than when used as a "short form"? A. Pages 1 and 2 are filled out the same in either case. On a short form, Page 3 is disregarded and Page 4 is used, while on a long form Page 3 is used and Page 4 is disregarded.

Q. When husband and wife file separate returns, can one take the standard allowance while the other itemizes deductions? A. Unless they permanently separated, if one itemizes deductions, the other must do the same.

Q. Suppose my list of deductions is too long to write in the spaces on Page 3 of Form 1040. What should I do? A. List your deductions on a separate sheet of paper, write their total on Page 3, and attach your list securely to the form.

Saturday: Exemptions.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. John W. Maybury
Pastor
Church of The Nazarene

"Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word." (John 17:20)

Gracious, Loving Father our prayer is that Thou wouldst help every true believer to allow their light to shine forth this day unto those round about them; that they may bring forth fruit unto the Kingdom of Christ. This prayer "For them also," has followed believers down through the years. May its fulfillment occur again today, as some wayward, sin-sick soul, learns of Jesus and His love through the Word of God being lived in the believers life today. Holy Spirit lead us and speak through us, for Jesus sake. Amen.

FRANKLIN LOSES TO HARRIMAN BY SCORE OF 36 TO 28

Harriman Goes Into Dead-lock For First Place in The League

BATTLE WAS CLOSE

Capriotti, Pindar and Lelinski Were Heavy Scorers For Winners

The Franklin winning streak of five straight games was broken by the Harriman quintet last night as the latter club moved into a dead-lock for first place in the Bristol Youth League by beating Franklin, 36-28, on the Mutual Aid floor.

Thirteen points in the final period gave the sixth ward aggregation the triumph. The teams had battled closely throughout with the first quarter ending 4-4, and Harriman taking a 14-9 lead at half-time when "Johnny" Pindar dropped in three double-deckers and a foul.

At the close of the third period, the score stood 23-18 with Harriman still five points to the good but in the last ten minutes, the sixth ward team went on a scoring spree with both Stan Lelinski and Ed Capriotti scoring enough points to give Harriman the comfortable margin of triumph.

Capriotti, Pindar and Lelinski were the big guns in the Harriman victory with 9, 12 and 10 points, respectively. Fiorelli had eight points for Franklin while Barbetta, Massi, and Fields had six each.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

BY JOE ELBERSON

Federation meeting . . . next Monday evening, March 4th, delegates from the county's sportsmen's clubs will meet in Doylestown for the March meeting of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. One of the features of the meeting will be a report of the proceedings at the recent State Federation meeting in Harrisburg.

Fishing contest . . . open to all fishermen again this year is the annual contest sponsored by the Edgely Rod & Gun Club. Details were announced when the Club met Tuesday evening at the Headley Manor Fire House.

There are three divisions: bass, pickerel and catfish. First prize in each of these divisions is $25.00. All entries must be registered at Britton's Service Station, Bristol Pike, Edgely. All entries must be taken on rod and line. And all must be taken from public fishing waters of the State.

It was a pleasure . . . after the disillusionments of the New York Sportsmen's Show a couple of weeks ago I was a little skeptical about visiting the Philadelphia Motorboat and Sportsmen's Show which opened on Monday at the Commercial Museum for a week's stand.

I was there, however, on open day, along with Ollie Hobbs, Tom Harrison, and Harry Bossler.

I'm glad we went. It was a pleasurable experience. There was plenty of elbow room. There were plenty of fascinating exhibits. There was a good show. And there were plenty of seats, so arranged that you could see the show.

The boating end of the exhibits dominated the show. That was to be expected. When we inspected the sleek, 40-foot cabin cruiser I believe most of us forgot about plug casting on the Canal.

The Pennsylvania Fish and Game Commission had fine exhibits. The valleyed pike and bass swimming around in the glass tank made a magnificent appearance. Most of the other fish found in the Commonwealth were also on display.

Highlighting the program tomorrow evening will be the plug casting tournament finals when prizes will be awarded and winners announced.

Proper length . . . the proper length of a shotgun barrel is determined by what you want the gun to do. M. A. Robinson, chief ballisticsian, of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, gives some interesting facts regarding the effect of various shotgun barrel lengths.

Maximum velocities from shotshells loaded with smokeless powders are obtained in shotguns with a barrel length of 30 inches for the 12 gauge, 28 inches for the 16 gauge, and 26 inches for the 20 and 28 gauges and 410 bore.

When the barrels are reduced in length, the loss in velocity for each inch in reduction is at the rate of 7½ feet for the 12 gauge and 6 feet for the others.

The length of the barrel has practically no effect on the pattern percentage or distribution, according to Robinson. Penetration is roughly proportionate to the remaining velocity.

The principal advantage of the longer barrel is a longer sighting radius which tends to reduce errors in pointing.

Calicoes biting . . . talked with an ardent Edgely fisherman the other day who told me that large calico bass were caught at the Penn Manor Club over two weeks ago. Flies and spinners did the trick.

CATHOLIC BOYS, IN SURPRISE WIN, DEFEAT EAGLES

Last Quarter Rally Gives Them The Decision In The Contest

FINAL SCORE, 49 TO 38

Third Ward Five Suffers From Loss of Services of "Johnny" Rogers

Scoring a surprise verdict over the Third Ward Eagles, the Catholic Boys Club again went into a tie for fourth place in the Bristol Youth League. The game played on the Mutual Aid floor ended: Catholic Boys, 49; Third Ward, 38.

A last quarter rally by the Catholic Boys gave them the decision. They had the lead throughout but were only leading by three points when the third session ended. But in the final period, the ultimate winners scored 13 points while the Eagles were held to four counters.

The third ward lads lost the services of "Johnny" Rogers, their scoring ace, in the last session. Rogers had dropped in seven field goals and two out of four fouls before he left via the personal foul route. Five of the double-deckers were registered in the second half.

It was the shooting of Joe Gross which was outstanding for the winning combination. Gross, playing in his best form, scored nine field goals and added two points via the foul route to boost his total for the night to 29 points. He scored 16 of the Catholic 26 points of the first half.
